

Identify Man Held Here As Bank Bandit

Local Police Find Clues Which Lead to Arrest of Wabeno Robbers.

FARMER GIVES FIRST TIP
Men Are Arrested at Green Bay on Evidence Supplied by Appleton Men.

Willis Lesperance, 22, Oconto, held here as a suspect in the Wabeno bank holdup about ten days ago, has been positively identified by Ross Richardson, cashier of the bank, as one of the men who robbed the institution of $32,000. He was turned over to Sheriff Miller of Forest-Cro. Monday evening and with "Frenchie" Yaeger, arrested at Green Bay, was taken to Wabeno Tuesday for preliminary hearing Thursday before a justice of the peace at Crandon.

This turn of affairs and the resultant capture of the two men is due to the vigilance of a farmer living in Outagamie-co. who overheard a telephone conversation, and to the quick followup of the clue by Chief George T. Fenn and Detective John Duval of the Appleton police department. They worked hastily until they had traced the men to Green Bay, then telephoned Detective E. P. Cunningham where to go. The pair was found at the designated place and promptly jailed.

Willis Lesperance was brought to Appleton Saturday night for questioning by Chief Prim, but would admit nothing. Witnesses of the Outagamie County Bank robbery were summoned to examine the man, but denied he was the lone bandit who robbed the local institution of $9,000. None of the men is believed to have any connection with the Appleton affair, especially because they are much younger men.

Warrants are said to have been issued also for Lawrence Lesperance, 28, and Chalmers Yaeger, 25, brothers of the prisoners, who also are believed to be implicated. They had not been captured up to noon.

Phone Message Is Tip
A telephone call to Chief Prim about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon was responsible for establishing the identity of the men and the capture of two of them. The farmer who divulged the information said one of the robbers had gone to a farmhouse about 11 o'clock and asked permission to use the telephone. He put in a long distance call to Green Bay, and the nature of the conversation made the man suspicious. He thought little of it at the time, but upon reaching a town in the northern part of Outagamie-co. Saturday afternoon reported the matter. The information then was communicated to Chief Prim.

Acting on this new clue, the chief and Detective Duval went immediately to the farmhouse where the telephone call was supposed to have been made. This fact was verified and the journey then was continued to a farm in the town of Maine, where the Lesperance brothers and Yaeger, who used the assumed name of Willie Smith, were supposed to be staying.

The couple owning this farm are uncle and aunt of the brothers. The young men visited them often and are presumed to have left their homes near Oconto sometime before the Wabeno holdup occurred to throw off suspicion as to where they might be going. They remained at the farm for several days and left one by one. Lawrence Lesperance and Yaeger came first, and Willis arrived about two days afterward. Willis left a week ago Thursday and Lawrence left the previous Tuesday.

This information was obtained by the chief in his interview with the couple and with others in the neighborhood. He found the farmer who took Willis to town in his automobile on Tuesday.

Finding that the men were not at the farm, Chief Prim took up the telephone call clue. He found that the place called was the residence of Mrs. Bert McIsister, 509 Pine-st., Green Bay. This was a rooming house where the men were supposed to be staying. The officers returned to Appleton about 8 o'clock in the evening with this information. Rather than lose time by driving to Green

PRESIDENT OF PURDUE
LOST IN CANADIAN WILDS

By United Press Leased Wire
Banff, Alberta.—Searchers scouring the mountains in the vicinity of Mount Assiniboine up to an early hour Tuesday had found no trail that would lead them to Dr. Stone, president of Purdue University, LaFayette, Ind., and his wife who left the Mount Assiniboine club here July 17 to traverse the surrounding hill country.

Stone and his wife had with them but a four-day's food supply and when, at the end of the fourth day, they did not return to the camp, searchers set out to find them.

The only clue so far was discovered Sunday afternoon when a searching party came upon some toilet articles bearing the initials of Mrs. Stone. These were found at the base of Mount Eanon. It is not thought that they have attempted this peak, as it has been unascertained even by parties well supplied with food and experienced guides.

Civic organization have complained that the Waukesha resorts have become the summer quarters of commercialized vice from Milwaukee.

Newspaper men have been summoned to appear and a subpoena has been issued for Mrs. Clinton M. Barr, president of the Federated Church Women, but has not been served because of Mrs. Barr's absence from the city.

Governor Small Held Amenable To Arrest

By United Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill.—Judge E. S. Smith Tuesday held Gov. Lon Small amenable to arrest on warrants charging him with embezzlement of large sums of state funds.

Overruling contentions of Small's attorneys that the governor is immune from arrest by virtue of his office, Judge Smith held:

"There is no king in Illinois. The governor is liable to arrest."

The 75 year old barrister's eyes gleamed and his jaws came together with a snap. He ordered the clerk of the court to place the warrants for Small's arrest in the hands of Sheriff Henry Mester. Then for Mester's benefit he quoted from the law to show that the sheriff must make vigorous efforts to serve the warrants or he will be liable for punishment for non-performance of duty.

Judge Smith held in his opinion that the governor will violate the law should he carry out his threat of calling state troops to protect him from arrest.

"The governor," he declared, "has no right to all the militia for his personal protection."

When the judge finished reading his opinion, former Governor Joseph Fifer, chief counsel for Small, leaped to his feet and began an argument for postponement of service to give him and his associates more time to prepare their case.

They asked that service of the warrants be withheld until September.

IN WEST COAST CITY

Britain Wants Conference on Pacific Problems To Be Held Early.

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—The Pacific coast of America may be the scene of a momentous meeting of powers to discuss Pacific questions. Dominion premiers according to information here intend to recommend that the gathering proposed by President Harding be held in a coast city.

Another suggestion understood to be incorporated in a note which will be submitted to Washington is that the meeting be moved up from November to late in September, or early in October.

The note will answer Secretary Hughes' message in which he disappeared the suggestion that a preliminary conference on the Pacific problem be held in London.

It was reported Tuesday that the British will attempt to bring the question of war debts into the disarmament conference. Premier Lloyd George will take a corps of financial experts with him to Washington. The experts will be armed with information and proposals for the handling of Britain's debt to the United States.

EMBEZZLER SEEKS EASY WAY OUT OF TROUBLE

By United Press Leased Wire
Austin, Minn.—Negotiations for settlement of the case against "Cy" Thomson, accused of embezzlement of funds from the Hormel Packing Company may begin tomorrow.

Thomson's defense will seek to learn whether officers of the packing company will prosecute more than one charge of grand larceny against the former comptroller. Only one charge, involving $10,000, has been placed thus far. Thomson's total shortage with the company is said to be $1,187,000.

If only the present count is to be prosecuted, it is believed Thomson will seek trial and plead guilty promptly.

Mayor Puts Veto ON COUNCIL PLAN TO ADMIT CARNIVAL

Hawes Says Gambling Features of Carnivals Are Violation of Law.

The resolution adopted by the common council at its meeting last week granting a permit to Appleton aerie of Eagles to hold a carnival from Aug. 8 to 13, was vetoed Saturday by Mayor J. A. Hawes. The veto was announced Monday afternoon when E. L. Williams, city clerk, notified the Eagles of the mayor's action. The matter will be presented to the council at the next meeting, Wednesday, Aug. 3. A two-thirds majority is required to override the veto. The vote on the resolution to grant the permit was eight for and three against, with one alderman absent.

Mayor Hawes, in his veto, declared he opposed the resolution for three reasons:

"There is a growing feeling of opposition, complaint and protest on the part of many of our citizens against Carnivals such as have been conducted at frequent intervals in Appleton, and I believe these complaints are worthy of more favorable consideration by your Honorable Body, and that applications for such permits should be denied in order that the interests of our citizens adversely affected, may be reasonably protected."

"2. That many of the features of Carnivals such as the one proposed to be held August 8th to 13th, inclusive, consisting of games of chance in connection with the sale and distribution of merchandise are illegal and prohibited by our State Laws and City ordinances."

"3. Your action in issuing this permit being contrary to law is also inconsistent and unfair to local citizens who have been denied the same privileges by your Honorable Body, by the enforcement of the law."

The Eagles were notified of the veto in advance of council action in order to give them time to cancel their arrangements with the carnival company in case the veto is upheld by the aldermen.

FARMERS FIGHT TO KEEP PROFITS TAX

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Representatives of farmers organizations Tuesday gave notice to the house ways and means committee, on opening hearings on tax revision, that the agricultural interests will fight reduction of taxes now imposed upon profitable corporations and wealthy individuals.

H. C. McKenzie, Walton, N. Y. tax representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, said his organization is opposed to the abolition of the excess profits tax and the shifting of the burden to the poor. He also stated that the farmers opposed the reduction of surtax rates and the substitution of consumption, or sales taxes.

Gamblers agreed to pay $100,000 for "fixing" the series. Of this amount $20,000 was to be paid after this game. The confessions then told how gamblers double crossed the players and gave them only a small part of what was promised.

EMERY WILL NOT HELP

Madison, Wis.—State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Q. Emery will not use his appropriations and assistance for enforcement of the prohibition law.

Stories carried by newspapers to the effect that peddlers of moonshine being the pure food as well as the prohibition law were answered by Emery with the statement that "the legislature appropriates the funds for my office for a specific purpose. The same applies to appropriations for the prohibition commissioner. I would be violating my office if I used the money given me for any other purpose."

FOIL TRAIN ROBBERY

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn.—A drunken "bad man" who attempted to hold up the Chicago & Great Western passenger train leaving here for Omaha Monday night, was foiled by A. B. Lenz, a porter who took one of three pistols away from the bandit and chased him from the train. The man tried to board a Great Northern switch engine nearby but the fireman, L. A. Johnson, knocked him down with a coal pick. After a chase of several blocks the bandit was captured and two more pistols were taken from him. He gave the names of John Wagner and John Stuart.

Baby, Wrapped In Newspapers, Found On Boat

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis.—A blue-eyed baby girl, one year old, was found abandoned in a steamer chair aboard the Goodrich boat "Arizona," after the vessel had docked here early Tuesday morning from Chicago.

The baby was fast asleep in the chair, wrapped in some newspapers to keep it warm.

Officers of the Arizona vaguely remember a woman and baby boarding the vessel at Chicago. They believe the mother either jumped overboard and perished or slipped off, unobserved, from the boat at Racine.

The child was taken to the detention home while police of Racine and Milwaukee began a search for the mother.

No marks that might lead to the identification of the child were found in its clothing.

JAPS CAREFUL IN ANSWER TO HARDING'S BID

Hardest Task About Disarmament Conference Is Preparation of Program.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—Japan is ready to accept America's invitation to participate in the disarmament conference.

In accepting the invitation, Japan does not bind herself to discuss anything which she wishes to exclude from the scope of the conference such as questions relating to Shantung or Yap, or other matters which Japan may consider to have been closed by the time the conference begins.

America has not specified what subjects will be discussed except in a general way—disarmament and peace in the Far East.

These statements from officials of our government who are in touch with the negotiations describe the status of the interchanges between Japan and the United States thus far.

Our government originally asked all the powers informally if an invitation to a disarmament conference would be acceptable. That is diplomacy's way of avoiding a direct turn down. The informal inquiries resulted in agreeable statements from all the powers and formal invitations were promptly sent. Japan is just now replying informally that an invitation would be acceptable. After that a formal invitation must be sent and a formal reply received. Japan naturally wanted to know what would be discussed at the conference and America politely said that was something all the powers, including Japan, would decide when once the invitations were accepted all around.

Settle Program First.

So when Japan accepts America's invitation the real discussion begins as to what shall be included or excluded. The "agenda," which is the diplomatic term for program, will have to be settled before the conference begins.

It will be the aim of the United States to make this agenda as broad as possible, so that every question which has a practical relationship to the future peace of Far East may be discussed. It will be to Japan's interest to avoid discussion of her rights in China as granted her by the Versailles pact and previous treaties with China.

TWO MEN KILLED IN GUN FIGHT IN OKLAHOMA TOWN

By United Press Leased Wire
Duncan, Okla.—Two men were dead Tuesday as the result of a battle between the sheriff's force and an alleged gunman at Oil City Monday night.

Deputy Sheriff Worley was killed by an unidentified man when he tried to arrest him for "shooting on the street." Sheriff Shyne in turn killed the stranger.

Chief Sundby was 43 years old and is survived by a widow, just out of the hospital after a critical illness of several months and three sons. He became a member of the police force May 23, 1908, and on March 13, 1916, he was made chief of police.

Monday when he was beating through the heavy underbrush in search of the bandit, who is still at large, the latter jumped up from behind a bush and fired two shots point blank at him and then jumped into the river.

Search for the bandit slayer was being continued today by close to fifty deputies and volunteer searchers assisted by a bloodhound from Maunton. Indignation is running high.

No trace had been found of more than $1,000 in street car fares that the bandit had seized from a street car messenger before he made his escape.

Armed men were stationed at every crossroad and every vantage point throughout the night, and former army officers kept up a constant round of inspection. Before dark airplanes, motorboats, automobiles and motorcycles aided in the search. Automobile headlights were used to light up the roads surrounding the woods and cornfields in which the bandit may still be hiding.

ORDERS SURVEY OF
FAMINE IN SOUTH

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—A survey of famine conditions in the south was ordered Tuesday by the Red Cross following a conference with the United States public health service.

As soon as the needs of the pellagria ridden territory are determined, the two organizations will rush food, medicines and doctors, Surgeon General Cumming of the health service and Dr. Livingstone Farrand, president of the Red Cross, stated.

Unofficial reports to both organizations place the number of sufferers at more than 100,000. Fatalities will run between 5,000 and 10,000, the health service was told.

POSSE ENDS SEARCH FOR BANK ROBBERS

Taylor's Falls, Minn.—After four days of searching sheriff's posses Tuesday had given up hope of capturing the bandits who robbed the Farmers' State bank of Almelund, Minn., of nearly $14,000 last Saturday morning.

Posses scattered over Chicago county, hoping to find a new trail, but there was not much hope. Sheriff Johnson clung to the theory that the bandits caught a train at Dresser Junction, on the Wisconsin side of the river, a few miles below here.

Sidney Topness, a young farmer who was shot when he failed to obey a command to halt his automobile at the interstate bridge here, was still in a serious condition Tuesday. It is not certain that he will live.

Badger Farmers Want To Hire Noted "Rainmaker"

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis.—Three thousand dollars an inch was offered by Wisconsin farmers Tuesday to C. M. Hatfield, California rain maker.

The offer was made through Edward C. Pommerening, president of the American Society of Equity, to save Wisconsin crops.

Hatfield won $8,000 offered by farmers in Alberta, Canada, by rains falling to the extent of more than four inches.

Pommerening sent a telegram to F. Ratcliff of Lethbridge, Alberta, asking that the offer, three times that guaranteed by the Alberta farmers, be presented to Hatfield.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—The text of President Harding's message to congress follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

It is necessary to call the attention of congress to the obligations of the government to the railroads and ask your cooperation in order to enable the government to discharge these obligations. There is nothing new about them, but only recently has there come an understanding which seems well to justify a sincere endeavor to effect an early settlement. These obligations already have been recognized by the congress, in the passage of the transportation act restoring the railroads to their owners, but previous recognition was made in the contract, under which the railroads were operated by the government for the period of the world war.

The contract covering operation provided that railroads should be returned to their owners in as good a condition when taken over by the government and the transportation act, recognizing that betterments and additions belong to capital accounts provided that such funds as the railway companies owe the government for betterments and new equipment, added during the period of government operation might be funded. There had been at no time any question about the justice of funding such indebtedness to the government. Indeed, it has been in progress to a measurable degree ever since the return of the railroads to their owners. It has been limited, however, to such cases as these in which final settlements with the railway administrations have been effected.

Process Too Slow

The process is admittedly too slow to meet the difficult situation which the owners of the railroads have been facing and believe it essential to restore railway activities, and essential to the country's good fortune to hasten both funding and settlement.

Quite apart from the large sums owing to the government which we are morally and legally bound to fund, the government admittedly owes the railway companies large sums on those accounts, such as compensation, depreciation and maintenance. There has been a wide difference in opinion relating to the amount the government owes due in the main to the claim of the owners that in spite of materials and hours of labor being estimated in proper relations to similar expenditures in the pre-war test period, the "inefficiency of labor" still left a wide difference between actual upkeep and the expenditure made during the government operation.

In order to expediate settlement and funding, an informal understanding, which is all that is possible or practical has been reached under which the railway claims based on the "inefficiency of labor" are to be waived to hasten complete and final settlements, without surrender of any rights in court, in case there is failure to settle. I have no doubt that early, final and satisfactory settlements will be reached, since the policy of the railway administration already has been effective in finally settling the accounts of roads filing claims amounting to $225,568,764, resulting in the payment to them of $68,141,222.

The way now would seem to be clear to very early adjustment and relief, except for the fact that the railway administration, though possessing assets, does not command the funds necessary to meet with its admitted obligations. There is no thought to ask congress for additional funds. Perhaps $5,000,000,000 will be necessary. The railroad administration, has or will have in the progress of funding, ample securities to meet all requirements if congress only will grant the authority to negotiate these securities and provide the agency for their negotiation.

POLICE CHIEF IS DEAD AFTER FIGHT
WITH LONE BANDIT

Posse Searching Woods for Man Who Held Up Eau Claire Streetcar.

BULLETIN
By United Press Leased Wire
Eau Claire, Wis.—A lone bandit, driving alone in a big car, held up and robbed the American National bank at Marshfield at 1 o'clock this afternoon, secured about $1,600 in money, and made his getaway. He was pursued in an auto but was lost two miles south of the city when he turned west.

The bandit, a young good looking fellow about 25 years old, drove up to the bank and sat in the car until the only customer then in the bank, a woman, stepped out. Then he walked in and at the point of a gun ordered Jacob Leitwander, assistant cashier, and Miss Zet Brichmeier, bookkeeper and two messenger boys, to hold up their hands.

Eau Claire, Wis.—Chief of Police Elmer Sundby died Tuesday morning at a local hospital of wounds received Monday when shot twice by a bandit who an hour before had robbed a messenger for the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company of a thousand dollars at the door of the company's car barn as he was about to board a waiting streetcar.

The chief was shot through the stomach and through the hip. He was operated on immediately and for a time Monday night it looked as though he would survive but after midnight he began to sink rapidly and breathed his last shortly before 9 o'clock.

Chief Sundby was 43 years old and is survived by a widow, just out of the hospital after a critical illness of several months and three sons. He became a member of the police force May 23, 1908, and on March 13, 1916, he was made chief of police.

Congress Is Asked to Broaden Powers of War Finance Corporation.

WOULD BUY RAIL BONDS
Easy to Reach Agreement But Necessary Funds Are Not Available.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—President Harding Tuesday asked congress to broaden the powers of the war finance corporation so that it could give financial relief to the railroads and agriculture.

He made this request in a short message addressed to the senate and house of representatives.

Harding gave only the bare outline of the plan he wants congress to approve. Details are to be given out later by the railroad administration. The president, however, made clear these salient points of his plan:

That the war finance corporation be empowered to buy railway securities now held by the director general so that officials may have funds to settle with the railroads without dipping into the treasury.

That the powers of the corporation be broadened so that it can extend further relief to the livestock raisers, and farmers.

Waive Labor Claim

Harding then explained that the hasten a settlement with the government, the railroads have consented to waive their claims based on the assertion that labor depreciated in value during government control, and that the government should pay for this. The waiver, however, will not prejudice their rights if they should take their claim to court.

Harding then explained that the government owed the railroads and the roads owed the government, and that settlements have already been made for claims totaling $225,568,764.

"The way would seem clear to very early adjustment and relief except for the fact that the railway administration, though possessing assets, does not command the funds necessary to meet what will be admitted obligations," the message said.

The proposal that the war finance corporation be empowered to negotiate these assets was then made.

While the government is thus making payments to the roads, the roads debt to the government will be funded—that is, payment spread over a period of years.

PARCEL POST LOSES 50 MILLION A YEAR

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—The parcel post system now is being conducted at an annual loss to the government of approximately $50,000,000 a year, Congressmen Steenerson, chairman of the commerce committee on postoffice and post roads, said Tuesday. Steenerson is one of a joint congressional committee now conducting a financial survey of the entire postal system to learn how it can be put completely on a self-supporting basis.

A survey just completed by the committee of the parcel post finances in St. Paul showed that the government lost about one half of a cent per package handled. In St. Paul, merchants are using the parcel post in lieu of delivery service. Postoffice department officials are anxious to encourage merchants in all cities to deliver goods via parcel post provided the system can be made to pay its way. This would permit retail dealers to eliminate large and costly fleets of delivery wagons and tend toward a general price reduction.

"PREACHING" DOCTOR IS RAPPAED AT CONVENTION

Cleveland, O.—Word from Dr. Hugh L. Russell, Buffalo osteopath, who testified in the Stillman divorce case, was awaited at the convention of American Osteopathic association here Tuesday.

A telegram was sent to Dr. Russell at Buffalo telling him that complaint had been lodged against him because he testified to what he claimed Mrs. Stillman had told him concerning the parentage of her son, Guy, and urged him to appear and present his side of the case.

Dr. Kendrick Smith, national chairman of the public education committee, said Tuesday it was Dr. Russell's plain duty to go to jail for contempt of court rather than to testify confidential information which should have been secret, Dr. Smith said.

SPEEDING DRIVER CRASHES INTO CAR

Neenah Automobile Is Wrecked
in Accident on Mackville Road.

Seven occupants of a Neenah automobile were shaken up badly and suffered minor cuts and bruises when their car was overturned on Center Sunday evening in a collision with a machine driven by James Murphy, automobile mechanic. Murphy, a male companion and two young ladies riding in his machine were uninjured. The Neenah machine was owned and driven by a Mr. Mielke.

It is said that the Mielke car was proceeding south just behind another automobile. Murphy approached from the south and after passing the first car speeded up with the intention of regaining the center of the road. It was evident that he did not observe the second automobile until too late to avoid crashing into it.

The Mielke car was turned completely around and then overturned on the pavement. The top was badly damaged, the windshield broken and other portions bent or broken. The Murphy machine had a fender bent and the front axle damaged.

One of the women in the Mielke machine appeared to have injured her head and neck. A physician was summoned and instructed the woman to come to his office for examination, but she is said to have gone home with the rest of the party. The others had minor bruises and cuts.

Mr. Murphy narrowly escaped death about two months ago when an automobile in which he was driving turned over near Stockbridge.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

With this end in view you are asked to extend the authority of the war finance corporation so that it may purchase these railway funding securities accepted by the director general of railroads. No added expense, no added investment is required on the part of the government, there is no added liability, no added tax burden. It is merely a grant of authority necessary to enable a most useful and efficient government agency to use its available funds to purchase securities for which congress already has authorized the issue, and turn them into the channels of finance ready to float them.

I can readily believe that so simple a remedy will have your prompt sanction. The question of our obligation cannot be raised, the wisdom of affording early relief is not to be doubted and the avoidance of added appropriation, or liability, will appeal to congress and the public alike.

The after war distresses of two great and fundamental activities have been creating the anxious attention of the country. One is the readjustment and restoration of agriculture, the other is the distress of our railway transportation system.

Pending proposals for relief have already brought to the attention of congress the very promising possibilities of broadening the powers of the war finance corporation for the further relief of agriculture and livestock production.

This corporation has proven itself so helpful in the relief thus far undertaken, that I cannot help but believe that its broadened powers, as have been proposed to meet agricultural needs, will enable it wholly to meet the nation-wide emergency. This is an impelling moral obligation to American farming in all its larger aspects, and it will be most gratifying to have your early sanction. In the case of the railroads there is a moral obligation, and your favorable action is no less urgent, and will no less appear to public approval. Railway solvency and efficiency are essential to our national industrial commercial and agricultural life. Everything hinges on transportation.

After necessary and drastic curtailments, after harrowing strains in meeting their financial difficulties, the railroads need only this financial aid which the fulfillment of our obligations will bestow, to inaugurate their far reaching revival. Its effects will be felt in varied industries and will hamish to a large degree the depression which, though inevitable in wars aftermath, we are all so anxious to see ending.

I am appending herewith memoranda concerning the progress of railroad liquidation and revealing existing conditions which congress will be interested to note, while considering the simple remedy proposed for the relief of the situation. The information is submitted by the director general of railroads.

(Signed) Warren G. Harding.

APPLETON MAN IS FINED AT MENASHA

F. H. Shoemaker Taken Into Court on Charge of Assault and Battery.

Menasha.—F. H. Shoemaker, salesman at Puth's auto garage at Appleton, was arrested there Monday morning on the complaint of Joseph Gazecki of Menasha. Some time ago Shoemaker and Gazecki had had negotiations concerning a trade in automobiles and finally arrived at an agreement for a trade. Shoemaker decided he had received the worst of the bargain and came to Menasha to induce Gazecki to rescind the bargain which was refused. ## HUGE CROWDS SEE WILD ANIMAL SHOW

Thousands of Persons Are Delighted With Al G. Barnes Circus.

Animals, wild and tame, coming from lands from the poles to the equator delighted about 10,000 people Monday afternoon and evening when Al G. Barnes circus performed here. The big top was filled for the performance, many people coming from long distances to see the shows.

The circus was true to its reputation as a wild animal circus, for lions, tigers, panthers, bears and other denizens of the jungles were constantly doing their tricks in the arena amid snarling and snapping.

A novel preliminary entitled "Alice in Wonderland" was staged, when the little blonde lion-tamer of the show fell into slumber on a cot and her dream was portrayed to the audience. An elaborate parade circled the tent, including the brass band, horsemen, equestrians, chariots and animals of every kind.

Almost all of the animals of the circus did some kind of an act under skilled trainers. Even the hippopotamus and the aged jumbo elephant took a walk around the tent so the people could see them. Clowns kept the ladies and grownups laughing with their stunts, many of which were new. Aerial fireworks demonstration with two ponies, a lion and their attendants, suspended in air, closed the performance.

The petition was dismissed by the court when Judge Werner decided that the

GOOD TIMES ERA IS COMING SLOWLY

Business Expert Says Prosperity Cannot Jump Back Into Industry Suddenly

People are settling down to the grim and sober business of working out their own salvation rather than waiting for some mysterious set of forces to restore good times. Return to better times is slow, but there is certainty of final recovery. This is the latest summary of the business situation as given to Appleton Chamber of Commerce by Archer Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics and standards of the chamber of commerce of the United States, in his monthly review. Mr. Douglas likens the present de-

HUGE ELEPHANT AND MONKEY WANT TO REMAIN HERE

Circus Employees Have Trouble Trying to Move Two Trick Animals.

Two animals of the Al G. Barnes circus liked Appleton so well that they were reluctant to leave with the rest of the circus Monday night. In fact they withdrew only under protest after considerable coaxing. The big elephant and a monkey were the miscreants.

The monkey took French leave of the show after performing a jumping stunt which it apparently detested. It was expected to climb a ladder reaching nearly to the top of the tent and then jump into a canvas held by four men. When it reached the last rung of the ladder it hesitated and refused to jump so its trainer climbed half way up the ladder and cracked his whip. The monkey jumped safely into the canvas but a second leap carried it to the seats and before it could be stopped, it had crawled under the grandstand and under the tent.

The big elephant balked when it came time to go back to his car at the Northwestern depot. Prodding with pitchforks did not change his mind in the least so chains were fastened about his neck and three other elephants were assigned to haul out their obstinate brother. He resisted for a while but was finally induced to go along with the herd.

RINGLING ADVANCE CAR IS HERE TODAY

The first advertising car of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined circus arrived in Appleton Tuesday. The crew of 30 bill-posters, lithographers and distributing agents are busily engaged in announcing the date of the appearance of the biggest circus in the world here on Aug. 17. Over 125 men are employed in the advance department of the circus, and the city will be visited by various squads, each man of which is especially trained in a certain angle of circus advertising before the show trains arrive here on circus day.

This year a complete trained wild animal show has been added to the circus, and three steel girded arenas are necessary to give this portion of the performance. African lions, Bengal tigers, leopards, Siberian bears and polar bears are introduced together with a company of trained camels.

Twenty-four Barbary stallions that offer a continental routine of bewildering evolutions are introduced by Mr. Hess, Europe's famous horsemen. "The Number Horses" are included in this grouping, and it is the first appearance of an act of this kind in this country.

men were acting wholly within their rights.

It was held by the plaintiffs that the officers had neglected their duty in their failure to post notices of the annual meeting of the school district, and their removal was asked on these grounds. The notices were said to be defective, and none therefore were posted.

A question also arose as to whether McCormick and Appleton were residents of the district in which the school is situated. Freedom township gained the public eye at the meeting to which the notices in this case refer, when a battle occurred between factions over a grudge of 50 years' standing.

Another "round" is to be fought in court through a personal injury suit filed Tuesday by Clarence Schuh against Appleton and McCormick. The plaintiff asks $8,000 for injuries suffered when he received an alleged beating during the school battle at the hands of the defendants. Notice was served on Appleton and McCormick Tuesday afternoon.

pression to those of other periods in the last half century, when the downward journey of prices began following a restriction of credit which stopped speculation and over expansion. Slowing down of industry and unemployment followed each such era. The flood of forecasts of early return to normalcy usually came to grief, because the trend back to prosperity was gradual and not a quick jump.

Conclusions drawn by Mr. Douglas show a slight upward trend in business. He says:

"The chronicle in industrial life is one of better business in leather, especially in boots and shoes; lower prices in an increasing number of makes of automobiles, and of good business in automobile sundries; lower prices in oil with the likelihood of consequent decreased production; continued dullness in mining; some improvement in clothing; production in steel and iron down to lower levels and with reduced prices, yet with slight increase in sales of some of the finished products; a generally good movement in summer seasonable goods; slow increase in construction as the costs of material and of labor decline in different sections; more particularly in the large cities; better wholesale trade in general but of smaller volume of retail business in the large centers."

REAL ESTATE BUSINESS HERE IS PICKING UP

The apparent business depression which has hit practically every line of business is about over as far as the real estate business is concerned is the opinion of Otto Stammer. Mr. Stammer said that he is busier now and has been for the last two weeks than he was at any time in the last two years. There is an incessant demand for city property. People are demanding houses faster than they can be supplied. The demand seems to be for property which sells at a rather low figure. There is not much sale of farm property, Mr. Stammer said.

ARE RETAIL PRICES DOWN?

The past few weeks have seen a nationwide discussion of the question "Are retail prices down?" Of equal local interest—Are Appleton consumers paying more or less than the people of other cities?

Appleton merchants say that not only have our retail prices shown a remarkable deflation in the last twelve months, but they are actually lower here than in many nearby points! Taking the statement of one leading retailer as typical of conditions all along the Avenue, we find that average dry goods prices have experienced a decline of 38% since the peak of last year. In local department stores sixty-two cents will do the work of one dollar of last year. This ratio is practically constant in the prices on ladies', men's and children's clothing, on shoes, yard materials, and homefurnishings.

Rugs are frequently quoted as forcible examples of the general deflation. Recent advertising has offered the best grade of Wilton floorcoverings for $97, as compared with $195 at the peak. A College-ave. grocer recently gave a graphic comparison of the difference affected in his selling prices in twelve months. The facts were startling for foodstuffs have been strongly influenced by downward price trends.

With the conservative estimate of a 38% deflation in Appleton retail prices—compare the 33-1-3% drop claimed by many larger cities. There is no deception about the figures. They are not generalities, they are not speculation, they are not twisted to suit a particular purpose. The fact remains that local retail prices are nearly five per cent lower than those of neighboring points.

Merchandising in Appleton has been carried on in sympathy with the deflation throughout the country, and it is evident that in the main prices have been brought down to a bottom at which business can be carried on solvently in the interest alike of the consumer and merchant. The puny should be as reasonable on its part as the merchants have shown themselves to be in the necessary adjustment to new conditions. If Appleton is to go through this period in a healthy state and with prompt reaction to better conditions it must do so on sound business principles. If the merchants received that cooperation from the public, which the public expects from them, readjustment will be satisfactorily accomplished and the city as a whole will be better for it.

The public has always overlooked the fact that when the precipitate break in prices came last fall it was on future deliveries of which the merchant would not be in a position to avail himself for some time to come. In his liquidation he had extensive credit to protect and could not anticipate future price reductions with one stroke of the pencil. He necessarily had to go through the process with some conservatism. It was a difficult problem, the poor handling of which invited disastrous consequences. The public was impatient for results, failing to realize that they would come in due time. Deflation has had to come with a fair regard to natural and economic laws, it could not be wholly arbitrary. We feel that it has come that way in Appleton and that our merchants, as a body, are to be commended for the policies they have pursued. The sooner the buying public realizes this fact, the sooner the situation will be cleared all the way around and business will get back to normal.

EQUAL RIGHTS

The final barrier to equal rights for women in Canada has been removed. The Canadian Pacific railway has reserved smoking compartments for the exclusive use of women on trains. It is to be hoped that the conversational standard will be higher in these women's compartments than it is in the men's.

MR. FORD AND THE RAILROADS

Henry Ford is not a popular man with competitors. Ever since he established a minimum wage of five dollars per day he has been persona non grata in the industrial world. He is not liked by the politicians because he demands honesty and efficiency in public service. And now he will make himself unpopular in the railroad world by his application to the Ohio public utilities commission for permission to reduce freight rates on his newly acquired railroad, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton.

As a result of his action a petition has been sent by 400 fruit growers of Michigan to President Harding asking that the railroads of the country be turned over to Henry Ford for administration and operation. Of course this is an impossible request upon the president, but it is not without significance. It typifies a state of mind which is quite widespread throughout the United. The people are dissatisfied with transportation facilities and rates and no one can deny that their complaint is just. Freight rates are excessive. They are a burden upon the consumer and a handicap upon business recovery.

Mr. Ford's injection into the railroad problem raises the question, what degree of efficiency and economy exists in railway management and operation? What are the true facts? So many men of great ability and perception have asserted that the railroads were extravagantly and inefficiently operated that one cannot help wondering just what would be the results if the skill and sagacity which have made the Ford organization the marvel of business efficiency it is were applied to the nation's railways.

Many people, as we say, do not like Mr. Ford. But when it comes to criticizing his business policies their talk is empty. Mr. Ford needs to take advice from no one in matters that test industrial resourcefulness and capacity. He has developed without doubt the greatest and most successful business ever built up by one man. It is the Ford genius which has made his company more than a match for all others, which has placed him above the dangers of credit restriction and made him master of banks and finance, rather than their servants. Not many months ago there were sensational rumors that Mr. Ford would be unable to renew or take up obligations running to large eastern banks to the amount of many millions. There were rumors that he would be ruined, and all that sort of wild and jealous talk. Events proved that Mr. Ford could command all the money, to say nothing of credit, he desired, and he took care of his notes without the slightest embarrassment.

Whether Mr. Ford could introduce his methods and apply his genius to railway management may be debatable, but there is hardly any question that if business talents such as he possesses could be placed in charge of the railways we should have our transportation system revolutionized. Rates would be greatly lowered, wages not reduced and vastly better service and facilities provided. In the matter of industrial efficiency and progressive business acumen, Henry Ford does not need to take off his hat to any other American. That he can operate his Ohio railroad on lower rates and with profit we have no doubt. Ford efficiency will see to that.

ANOTHER PHASE OF ECONOMY

President Harding is urging government economy, and business and financial leaders are telling the public to stop waste, and to work and save in order to restore sound conditions. It could make a good beginning by stopping the preventable fire waste of the country, which amounted to over $500,000,000 last year, or approximately $1,370,000 a day. Much is expected from the application of the budget system to national expenditures, but the American people could save more than it will save for them if they will only be reasonably careful about fire.

Carelessness and ignorance normally figure as the chief causes of our fires, but there is also the mistaken belief of many that when property is insured against fire the insurance companies are the only ones to worry if it burns. As a matter of fact, insurance costs are so closely interwoven with our social and economic fabric that we are all affected by the fire waste.

The careless or ignorant citizen responsible for a fire taxes himself as well as his fellows. When this truth becomes recognized by a majority of the American public, then will our fire waste begin to decrease.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY—CHAPTER 17.

School days, cruel days, sad old maiden rule days, can't whisper nor fidget nor get a drink, just sit in your seat like a hunk of zinc—surely no place for normal boys, and more children must make some noise! If we must go to school let's go to schools taught by mothers of regular boys!

Old maids—whenver father says anything about old maids and schools he gets a good scolding from several teachers—but I'm saying this, myself, though in a way father is to blame for me, I suppose—old maids may be comparatively harmless as teachers for college students, but their potency for harm varies inversely with the age of the children they teach, and so the last place to put an old maid is in charge of a room or class of little boys or children. If any old maid is such an old maid as to consider herself offended by this, father will be glad to confer with her about her grievance.

Trouble with too many teachers of youngsters is that they are old maidish, irrespective of years. Some teachers start in at the tender age of eighteen or twenty-one as full-fledged old maids; some achieve this deplorable state of mind after several years of teaching; some never will become old maids because they are not of that temperament.

Mothers should be given the preference as teachers of little children. A mother knows better than to inflict the cruelty of silence or immobility for hours at a time on a youngster. An old maid does not understand. She thinks it is right and proper for little boys and girls to sit like so many hunks of zinc, and she generally considers it a crime for a pupil to whisper or to make any little noise—and the teacher who considers whispering and ordinary noises of many children confined in one room abnormal certainly has the wrong sort of training for her job, no matter where or how she acquired it. When is the right time to start a boy or girl to school? At five, six, seven, eight? It all depends on the teacher. If she is of the czaristic temperament, given to punishing children for such normal acts as whispering or fidgeting or making noise, eight years is early enough. If the teacher has a little human understanding, a little of the motherly feeling, and doesn't practice such cruelties on her flock, then the age of six is about right. I am speaking now of regular primary school, not of kindergarten. It is all right to begin sending the baby to kindergarten for an hour a day at the age of two years, and maybe for two hours a day when the baby is four years old, but never longer than two hours, if you wish to give the baby the most in the way of education.

Our schools throughout the country, with some happy exceptions here and there, are still far behind the times in the matter of discipline. For instance, a high school preceptress still punishes pupils who so far forget her austere dignity as to whisper in her presence—makes them remain after school a la old maid—but when she catches a pupil cheating in an examination inflicts no punishment whatever. Wrong temperament. Ought to be pensioned off when they become old maids. Anyhow, it isn't fair to indict them on us little fellows.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Bad Business.
Please tell me whether a red or whitish sediment in the urine is evidence of disease of the kidneys? (B. M. L.)

Answer—No. You are launched on a bad business trying to diagnose your own ills, whether real or imaginary.

Drinking Water While Hot.
The other day I was out for a long hike through the woods, and found no water to drink. So when I got home I was very hot and very thirsty. Dad said I must take only half a glass of water and wait half an hour for more. He said I'd get cramps if I drank more. I drank three glasses of cold water, and felt fine afterwards. Did I do wrong? (Miss A. B.)

Answer—I see nothing wrong about drinking all the water your thirst craves while you are still warm. The harm is in drinking ice-cold water at any time. But not in drinking large quantities of moderately cold water when hot and thirsty.

Mumps.
Is it true that mumps is likely to leave a man or woman sterile? (J. A. N.)

Answer—No.

ELECTRIC HATCHING OF CHICKS.

A third of a million chickens a season is the proposed capacity which a customer of the Electric Power company of Portland, Ore., intends to attain in his electrically operated chicken farm known as "Henacres." His output this season will be in the neighborhood of 100,000 chickens, as compared with 45,000 for last year. This farm started with one small electric incubator in 1915 and now is equipped to operate on a large scale, having a single incubator with a capacity of 20,000 eggs. The total connected load for this plant consists of 33.5 kilowatts of heating and 2 kilowatts of lighting. For emergency service, continues the Electrical Review, a 20-kilowatt direct current generator is installed at the farm and is so arranged that it may be driven from the owner's truck.

Our Cheap Education

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington.—The United States must spend about six times as much as it does now for education before we can hope to make the schools satisfactory and provide for our children the education necessary for good citizenship, for democracy and for industrial efficiency.

Haskin

This statement is based upon recent studies made by the Bureau of Education, which show that the United States does not begin to use a proportionate part of the national income for educational purposes, and the results obtained from such meager funds as have been grudgingly appropriated by the different states emphasize that fact. Another recent report issued by the Committee on Education of the House of representatives shows that the United States ranks about ninth among civilized nations in illiteracy. This statement is based upon average figures and facilities.

In the United States the percentage of illiteracy is 7.7 for the total population, over 10 years of age, and 6 per cent for the native white population. In Denmark, Germany, Holland, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom the percentage of illiteracy is lower than that for the native white population of the United States. The list should probably include Norway, although no figures are available for that country. There is also less illiteracy in Australia than in the United States. In Bulgaria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Servia, Spain and non-European countries other than Australia, the percentage of illiteracy averages much higher than in the United States, extending from 33 to 70 per cent of the population.

The Average Cost

The total wealth of the United States is $300,000,000,000, and the annual income about $70,000,000,000. The Statistical Division of the Bureau of Education says that only $763,675,059 is spent each year for the education of young America. The average total paid by the United States for 13 years of a child's education—educating the pupil from the age of 6 years to normal graduation from high school when 19 years old—is $252. The lowest average paid for the education of each individual by a state is $63, and the highest, $637. The state paying the highest is Montana, which pays almost exactly 10 times the amount paid by those giving the least, which are Mississippi and Alabama. Massachusetts, famous for culture, gives only $390. With the exception of the District of Columbia, the far western states lead in generosity along this line.

In this country where we blithely acknowledge that all things depend upon education, we spend only an average of $2,092.268 per day for the purpose of educating more than 27,000,000 boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 19. Including children of kindergarten age there are more than 30,000,000 children in this country to be educated. This means an expenditure of about seven cents per day, for the education of each individual child above six years of age. Moreover, it has been shown by the Bureau of Education that the average individual in the United States gets only about six years of schooling.

The Army mental tests proved illiteracy to be common in the United States among wage-earning adults, and the extensive popularity of the educational courses offered to men enlisting in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps proved by their power as a drawing card, that a growing need is felt for more education.

It has been stated by the War Department that nearly 50 per cent of those who enlisted stated that they desired to enlist so as to get the educational advantages offered by the service. Similar in popularity are the courses offered by the Marine Corps Institute, and the privileges of specialized education along certain trade and professional lines offered to men in the navy.

Learning is in Demand

Vocational rehabilitation of the wounded soldiers, and the increasing demand for such training among ex-service men all over the country, emphasizes the popular desire for a more complete education. In looking over lists of particular cases asking such training, it is appalling to note the number of incapacitated men with families to support, who did not get beyond the fourth grade in school.

A man of 31 has an average of 44 years of productive life before him, provided he has been so taught and trained as to enable him to preserve his health and strength. Former United States Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton says that if $1,500 were paid for the education of such an individual, and the results of such an education spread over a period of 44 years, the cost would be less than $35 a year.

The investment problem resolves itself into this simple question: Will the average man or woman with such education and training as could be given at a cost of $1,500, instead of $352, produce enough more in taxable values to reimburse the state for the extra expenditure?

In view of these suggestions, as set forth by estimates made by the Bureau of Education, the far western states have found larger funds for educational purposes a good investment. Montana, California, Nevada, Washington, the District of Columbia (the only eastern exception), Wyoming, Colorado, and Idaho, head the list in the largest amounts appropriated for such purposes with sums ranging from $637 per individual in Montana, to $415 in Idaho.

In considering the investing of $1,500 for the education of each child in the United States, as suggested by Mr. Claxton, one should take into consideration the fact that this amount will give elementary and high school education to all, in schools manned by competent teachers and adequately equipped. Moreover, such an appropriation would provide the higher education of the college, university, professional and technical schools for two or three times as many as now get it. It would also allow opportunity for correspondence education for all those unable to attend a college or any other school of higher education.

Pay the Teachers More.
"The cheapest thing in the world is a good teacher," is any reasonable price," is to quote Mr. Claxton again. "The time, intellect, life and character of our children are too precious to be wasted and misused by teachers who are incompetent. The work of the teachers is the work of any other class of men or women."

How much does the United States spend on its teachers? North Carolina is at the bottom of the list with an average salary of $284 the year. The average salary paid teachers is less than the wages paid scrub-women or ditch-diggers, according to the committee on education of the house of representatives. There is only one state in the Union which pays an average teacher's salary of over one thousand dollars a year. California leads the states with $1,012. The District of Columbia, however, goes this figure one better, granting an average annual salary of $1,052. After these two, the only states paying an average annual salary of over $900 are New York, Arizona, Washington and New Jersey.

This is a country of poor schools and underpaid teachers. With all our wealth it is hard to get a decent education in America. When we have fully grasped this fact we may do something about it.

AUTOISTS RETURN FROM LONG JOURNEY

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Schmidt, 473 South River st., have returned from a 12 weeks' automobile trip through eight states after covering 4,300 miles. They met with no accidents aside from occasional tire trouble.

From Appleton they went direct to Kansas City, Mo., where they spent several days with their daughter. From there they motored to St. Louis, Indianapolis, Batavia, Ill., Cleveland, Niagara Falls, Adirondack Mountains, and the Thousand Islands of St. Lawrence river.

They also visited Lyons, N. Y., Mr.

Schmidt's boyhood home. The city had grown very little during his 41 years absence, and he was able to find very few of his former friends.

Bad roads was the general rule especially in Missouri and several eastern states. Some of the main thoroughfares were so crowded with automobiles to make driving hazardous. Grain in Illinois and Missouri was looking good, but the fruit crop was killed by a late frost. The apple crop in New York is short because of an off year.

Miss Dorothy Strebel, 1020 Franklin-st., left Sunday morning on a two weeks' vacation to Niagara Falls, N. Y., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. John Kraus.

Mexicans regard Tuesday as an unlucky day for weddings.

Jelly Time Is Here

There are three colors of currants: red, black and white. The red currants are more generally used in this country. They are more acid than the black.

The juice makes a delicious drink and preserves and jellies made with currants are especially good with meats in winter.

A certain kind of preserved currants known as Bar le Duc is considered the last word served with cottage cheese. This combination with crackers will take the place of dessert.

Currant Jelly
Pick over currants but do not remove from stems. Wash and drain. Put in preserving kettle and mash with a wooden potato masher. Do not add any water. Bring the currants very slowly to the boiling point but do not let boil. The fruit should look white. Rub through a coarse strainer and put the pulp in the jelly bag to drip. Measure juice and bring rapidly to the boiling point. Boil 8 minutes. Use measure for measure of sugar. Put sugar in the oven to heat. Add heated sugar to boiling juice and boil 3 minutes. Stir in any cum add pour into jelly glasses. When cold cover with paraffine.

Do not try to make more than four or five cups of juice into jelly at a time.

Currant jelly can be used instead of maraschino cherries to top salads or desserts.

Currant and Raspberry Jelly
Follow rule for currant jelly, using one-third as many berries as currants. This jelly has a suggestion of raspberries. Jelly made with one-fourth as many currants as raspberries has a decided raspberry flavor.

Currant Jam
Remove currants from stems and weigh fruit. Use pound for pound of sugar and fruit. Put fruit in preserving kettle and bring very slowly to the boiling point. Sift in the sugar. Cook gently, stirring to prevent burning, until the juice begins to jelly when poured on a cold plate. Pour into sterilized glass jars and seal while hot.

Currant Marmalade
Two pounds currants, 2 pounds raspberries, 3 oranges, 4 pounds sugar. Wash currants and pick from stems. Pick over and wash berries. Shooe oranges very thin. Put fruit and sugar in a crock and let stand over night. In the morning put in preserving kettle and boil twenty minutes. Turn into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffine when cool.

BEN BUNNY'S LETTER.
By Olive Roberts Barton.

Now this was the letter that Ben Dunny had written to Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the fairy weatherman. Nick opened it and read it out loud. It said:

"DEAR MR. SPRINKLE-BLOW:
"Would you please mind sending some real good growing weather? Mr. Sun has been nice ever since Farmer Smith sowed his seeds in the sass, patch garden, and he means well, but he's taken every speck of dampness out of the ground, and the seeds can't grow at all. Worst of anything though, the breeze comes along and sees the dry little seeds lying on the ground like pepper, and blows them all away. You know how little lettuce seeds are and carrot seeds, too—they're about the littlest of any—and so they blow away the quickest and the farthest. And they are the things that I like the best. Won't you please, sir, make it sprinkle soon so the seeds will stick and grow. We do like lettuce so well, and carrots are better than ice cream and cake. Blossom and I think, although we are partial to sweet new pea-leaves just a'coming through the ground. But peas are not planted yet, besides being so heavy 'n' all—the pea seeds, I mean—they don't blow away. Besides Farmer Smith plants them away down in where the breeze can't blow them away. Now if you would just send a nice shower to wet the ground, and then keep old Jack Frost away, Blossom and I will be having some lettuce for our Sunday dinner week after next. We're terribly tired of hark 'n' buds 'n' winter stuff, although we've been lucky in finding clover and plantain.

Yours expectantly,
BENJAMIN B. BUNNY."

"Good lands!" cried Sprinkle-Blow, clapping his hands to his head, "here I've gone and sent Jack Frost every where."

Breeches for Women
"Breeches for every occasion! Can you beat our mother dear?"

Ann pulled her short skirt higher and twirled on her toes around Mother Lorimer's chair.

"Satin for best," mother explained, "corduroy for sports and gardening, khaki for the kitchen! Goodness, knows I'd approve of taking an inch off from our petticoats, if it would lead eventually, to breeches for women for every occasion!"

"Standardized dress—at last," laughed Chrys. I laughed, too, but I was annoyed because the chatter prevented me from running home to read the charm in the rug which I turned impatiently upon my finger.

"Breeches forever! How corking!" Ann exclaimed. "Oh, mother! I'm going to set the new style. I'm going to put on breeches to golf in—"

Her gawky was interrupted by the entrance of a maid with a card for Miss Lorimer. Chrys glanced at the name and handed the card to the others: "Mr. Jordan Oliver Spence."

"Whew-ew-ew!" whistled Ann. Mother smiled and patted her daughter's hand.

"Come with me, Jane!" I went unwillingly. Chrys was using me as a shield to prevent Jordan Spence from becoming personal.

The poor man had come at the wrong time, I thought as I went down stairs with Chrys. It was his usual bad luck. A month later and Chrys might be free—

"Jane Lorimer, don't you dare to desert me!" This from Chrys on the stair landing.

The man's face glowed at the sight of her. He asked me the questions usual between friends, forgot me, talked only to Chrys, cared only to hear Chrys answer. The width of the room separated them, their spirits were close together, they talked of Mexican hospitals but so intimately that I felt myself the intruder. What he had done, and what she thought about what he had done engrossed them. Obviously they were violently in love. I wanted to say, "Bless you my children," and leave them alone.

How I envied them! I wanted to run away and be alone with Bob, wanted him to care because I was absorbed in what he had been doing. He never did care, any more. Late he hadn't been fair, he no longer re-

Points the Way to Comfort and Health. Other Women Please Read

Moundsville, W. Va.—"I had taken doctor's medicine for nearly two years because my periods were irregular, came every two weeks, and I would suffer with bearing-down pains. A lady told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how much good it had done her daughter, so I took it and now I am regular every month and have no pain at all. I recommend your medicine to everyone and you may publish my testimonial, hoping that the Vegetable Compound does some other girl the good it has done me."

Mrs. GEORGE TEGARDEN, 915 Third Street, Moundsville, W. Va.

How many young girls suffer as Mrs. Tegarden did and do not know where to turn for advice or help. They often are obliged to earn their living by toiling day in and day out no matter how hard the pain they have to bear. Every girl who suffers in this way should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and if she does not get prompt relief write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about their health.

Next to love, money inspiring the latest big romances of finance to me. Most tremendous romances which are born in the imagination of man, and carried through by his will. Many an adventure in the bond and stock market had Bob related to me and I had been happy, as happy as Chrys listening to Jordan Spence as Chrys had closed the gates. I must notice—I must try not to care. I must think of other things. There was the message in the ring. Neither Chrys nor Spence would notice if I slipped away through a side door.

"On my last birthday, eight months ago, I had another close call. We had just finished dinner. My stomach began to hurt me, a minute later I lay unconscious. Three doctors worked on me. Why do any of us take pride in the ownership of a good watch? Because it's an "ELGIN"—well, that's only part of the reason.

To think about it is to arrive at the answer.

Of course, aside from their acknowledged beauty, it's because of the value that association places on them.

SHERIFF BREAKS UP RIOT IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee.—A score of residents in the vicinity of the Northwestern railroad docks, at the foot of Polson avenue, St. Francis, took part in a neighborhood riot early Monday night.

Sheriff Patrick McMann, with a corps of deputies, rushed to the scene to quiet the disorder starting in a moonshine party in a shanty along the lake front.

Empty bottles, bricks and stones were being carelessly from all sections when officials arrived.

Several men, said to have been under the influence of moonshine, flourished revolvers and fired several shots in the air.

No apparent reason for the disturbance could be determined. It is believed, however, to have started from a quarrel between two laborers at the docks in which the neighborhood took sides.

Discolored eyes and bruises from a dozen street fights were being nursed by participants in the fight.

THIEVES GET $1,500 IN 3 MADISON JOBS

Madison, Wis.—Three burglaries in Madison over the weekend netted robbers $1,500 worth of merchandise, according to police here who have been unable to find any trace of the guilty parties. Two jewelry stores and Co. I of the National guard were victims.

Valuables taken from the J. K. Klitsner jewelry store were estimated at $400 with more than $500 worth of jewelry and watches taken from the store of Frank E. Freeman. Over $500 worth of blankets, socks and dentures were taken from the National guard company by thieves.

All of the robberies appear to be the work of experienced thieves, police say.

There are three vital processes of human existence—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of the waste.

Let anything interfere with these processes—let them be interrupted or improperly carried on, and sickness of some kind follows.

Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. It could be any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as

NEW CONTRIVANCE AT NEW HOSPITAL

Construction Company Installs
Steel Concrete Distributing Machine.

All the concrete to be used in the construction of the new St. Elizabeth hospital will be "spouted" from the top of a 160-foot steel tower, doing away entirely with carts and wheelbarrows. C. R. Meyer & Sons Co., contractors, have just installed a new spouting system purchased from a Chicago firm, which was set up on Monday. It was used for the first time Tuesday.

The spouts are so arranged that the concrete can be delivered to the farthest corner of the building, 380 feet from the tower. The concrete mixer is located below the surface of the ground at the foot of the tower, making it possible to dump the gravel and cement into the hopper without elevating it. The concrete is then sent through spouts, gravitation doing the rest.

This is the first time this system has ever been used in Appleton or outside of the larger cities. It is a time saver and will do away with employment of a large crew of men. The footings for the new building have all been poured and the work was started Tuesday on the forms for the concrete walls.

From the Radtke of Milwaukee, who did the excavating, completed their work last week. The steam shovel is still here but will be shipped to Sheboygan in the event the firm is the successful bidder on a large contract. One of the company's motor trucks was purchased by the Meyer people and is being used in hauling material from the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul depot, where a derrick has been erected for unloading cars.

INVITE POULTRYMEN TO LAKE GENEVA CONFERENCE

Appleton members of the Wisconsin State Poultry Breeders' association have been advised of the annual meeting which will be held in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. at Lake Geneva, Aug. 3 and 4.

Arrangements are being made by the Lake Geneva association to make the meeting profitable and enjoyable for all visitors. They invite members to bring their own camping outfit and camp on the shore of the lake during their two days' stay. However, if they prefer staying in a hotel, facilities are very good the local committee declares.

Members interested in the baby chick business receive a special invitation to attend as an effort is being made to organize the baby chick business. Every local association is urged to send at least one delegate to the meeting in order that the association may have a statewide influence.

Those who travel by auto to the meeting may follow highways 12, 50 and 36 as all three roads center at Lake Geneva.

Raleigh A. Ives, well known Fond du Lac man who recently received his release from state prison at Waupun where he was confined for murder, plans to open a grocery store at Princeton. He is now getting his stock ready and will open his store in a few days. Mr. Ives has been staying in Oshkosh.

NEW U. S. BOARD TO MAKE FARM INQUIRY

Equity Head Lays Facts Before
Agricultural Board at Washington.

Equity officials in Outagamie co. have received word of the return from Washington of E. C. Pomrenning, Oshkosh, president of the Wisconsin Union of the American Society of Equity. He appeared before the commission of agricultural inquiry recently created by congress at the request of the National Bureau of Farm Organizations.

Mr. Pomrenning reports that the commission is attracting wide attention and that its findings and recommendations probably will have great influence with congress when it reconvenes.

Recommendations made by Mr. Pomrenning to help Wisconsin farmers include:

Such legislation as may be necessary to force manufacturers, jobbers or wholesalers to sell to cooperative organizations or any one else having the money or good credit, without any discrimination and at the same terms and on the same conditions that they now, or may in the future sell to organized independent dealers.

To provide bonded warehouses and cold storage facilities so that farmers may store their products and be issued warehouse receipts which can be used as collateral for securing loans and conducting business until price conditions justify the sale of such products.

The development of some means for short-term loans so that farmers will be on an equal footing with other business men who require and now get short term loans without any difficulty.

Lower freight rates, more attention to the problems of business and marketing by our Agricultural Colleges and more equitable taxation on the basis of earning capacity, rather than inflated valuations.

TRACTION COMPANY GETTING 1,200 TONS OF COAL DAILY

Four barges of Cook & Brown Co. of Oshkosh are delivering coal to Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co. of Appleton at the rate of 1,200 tons daily. The tug Ryan of Fox River Navigation Co. is delivering coal at Kimberly mill and the tug Jane of the same company is delivering coal at Thilmany mill at Kaukauna.

The first pulpwood brought up Fox river in years was delivered at Little Rapids Friday of last week. It was brought to Green Bay from Canadian ports by water and transferred to barges. The cargo consisted of 4,000 cords.

Move This Week.
P. M. Conkey & Co. expects to be in its new quarters in the Pomeroy building, formerly the Lyons block, by the end of the week. Most of their cases and shelves have been moved to the new store and the stock will be transferred within the next few days.

World Veterans Have No Faith In Disarmament

Former Service Men Believe
America Should Constantly
Be Prepared.

Is the time ripe for international disarmament?

The conference of the nations which will meet at Washington probably in November will have to answer that question. But in order to learn the opinions of Appleton men who served in the World war, a reporter for the Post-Crescent interviewed a few of them. This is what they said:

"We haven't reached the millennium yet," said Charles A. Green, "so, in my opinion, there is little chance for the disarmament conference to succeed. Man hasn't changed any, as far as I can see, and nations haven't changed any. Man is just as prone to fight now as he was 1,000 years ago. When Angel Gabriel blows his horn, I'd say let America disarm, but not till then."

"I am and always will be in favor of a large navy and a fairly good-sized army. I believe that there will be another great war within 25 or 30 years. It may not be as great as the last war but nevertheless I have a premonition of a hard struggle. Somehow, I have always felt that we would have to fight Japan sooner or later. My contact with army men who know, during the last few years, has led me to believe that. Personally, I am not in favor of disarmament."

International disarmament is not a question of agreement but of enforcement, Eric Galpin believes. He thinks that most nations would make the agreement but he is afraid some of them would not carry it out.

"It's human nature to fight," Mr. Galpin said. "I would be in favor of disarmament if all the nations really disarmed, but there are too many sneaking people in the world. They would always be getting ready in the dark and preparing to put it over on the nations which were living in good faith. Suppose the agreement was made."

made. It probably would be only a short time until one nation or more would begin preparations for war. Then the other nations which were parties to the agreement would have to fight to enforce the agreement so what benefit would disarmament be?"

"I believe in looking out for trouble and preparing for it," said Dr. James A. Rolfe. "I am not in favor of disarmament. As long as there are Germans, or Frenchmen, or Englishmen or Japanese there are bound to be disagreements. I believe in looking for trouble and preparing for it. None of the foreign countries have ever lived up to an agreement yet and I'm afraid they never will. If they would, disarmament would probably work out all right."

"The minute one of those countries decides to fight, they are bound to do it. Furthermore, I can't see any way of enforcing an agreement on disarmament. Even if the various nations would agree, how would we know that the others were living up to the agreement? The nations say one thing and practice another. We objected to Germany signing Belgium. Now England does the same thing to Ireland every day. It will really require a revolution in the several nations to assure the success of any disarmament program. All nations must be consistent and act in good faith and they must have mutual confidence before disarmament can be attained."

"The great big motive behind universal disarmament is that it will put an end to war," said John Hertel. "There are other good reasons why nations should disarm, but none of them compare with this. Sherman told us what war is and I believe disarming to be tried until it is armament is the only way to get rid of it. Anyway disarmament proven either bad or good. There is no reason that I can see why disputes should not be settled by arbitration. It surely would be less costly and would cut down taxation, for one thing. When it comes to disarmament, I'm for it."

C. O. F. TO MEET IN MILWAUKEE SOON

Gustave Keller Is Candidate for Reelection as High
Treasurer.

Appleton is arranging a delegation to the twenty-fourth international convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters, which is to be held in Milwaukee from Aug. 1 to 5. Gustave Keller, high treasurer of the order, will be a candidate for reelection.

The convention will be opened officially Tuesday morning, Aug. 2, with a solemn high mass in Milwaukee cathedral. In the evening there will be a parade of the high court officers, delegates, visiting foresters, local and neighboring courts, followed by an initiation and a grand exemplification of the order's new ritual at the Knights of Columbus auditorium.

Wednesday morning there will be a solemn requiem high mass for deceased members in St. Mary church, followed by business sessions throughout the day. Part of the afternoon will be devoted to an automobile ride around the city. There will be an entertainment in Washington park in the evening.

OSHKOSH HAS TWO BIG CIRCUSES AT ONE TIME

Al. G. Barnes circus, which showed here Monday, was part of a circus war in Oshkosh Tuesday. The Sells-Floto circus also exhibited in Oshkosh, giving the city two circuses on the same day for the first time in history. The Barnes circus was the first to engage grounds and put up its posters. Citizens then were surprised to find that the Sells-Floto show had contracted for grounds within a stone's throw of the other, and covered the city with its paper. The situation is unique in this section.

Spinning Wheel Still Humming In County Homes

Spinning yarn with the old fashioned spinning wheel is still practiced by many older women of Outagamie co. and Delta co., Mich., according to John B. Courtney, proprietor of the Custom Woolen Mills, for whom he manufactures "roping." A few of them spin out of the fleeces and make an excellent quality of yarn.

The spinning is done mostly by women who received their training in Germany and France. In these homes the spinning wheel which has been relegated to the attic in most modern homes is just as important a fixture as the sewing machine as all the yarn used by the family is made with the aid of them.

The town of Freedom has an especially large number of women that spin their own yarn and Bear Creek and Sugar Bush also have quite a number. In Delta co. most of the spinning is done in the city of Menominee.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin. ## RIVER WATER IS CLEAR AFTER BIG RAINSTORM

Besides giving vegetation a new start the recent thunder showers purified the water in Fox river which no longer has a greenish tint. The discoloration was due to a vegetable growth which appears during the months of July and August and usually lasts until September unless dissipated by a shower. The present instance of the purification of the water by showers is the most pronounced ever observed by mill men. The water is as clear now as in winter time.

MILWAUKEE HAS ZONING LAW BOARD OF APPEALS

Milwaukee has appointed a board of appeals in connection with its new zoning ordinance, complying with a new state law requiring such a board. Five people have been named by the mayor on the committee, and confirmation of the city council is not required. The move is of interest here, because there is much sentiment for a zoning ordinance in connection with the proposed city plan.

Concrete Piers Finished
The concrete piers for the new steel bridge which the Northwestern Railway Co. is about to put in near the Atlas paper mill are completed and the steel crew is expected. The heavy spans arrived early last spring.

MONEY SITUATION HERE IS SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

The money situation in Appleton is much improved, according to John J. Sherman, president of the Citizens National bank. The supply is not as scant as it has been, although rates continue to be high. The industrial situation is not improved much, but orders are coming in somewhat better. There is a slight tone of optimism that did not prevail earlier.

Money to Siberia.
Persons sending mail to Siberia are warned by the postoffice department not to send money or valuables in ordinary or registered letters addressed to the Russian postoffice at Vladivostok, Siberia. Cleopatra's cleansers
—yet only 15 cents

Palm and olive oils were discovered 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt. They were the most highly prized of all beautifiers, served for wealth and royalty, the luxury of Cleopatra.

Today these same rare oils scientifically blended produce the most famous of all modern soaps. Manufacturing economy and enormous demand allow us to offer this superb facial soap for the modest sum of 10 cents a cake.

"Smooth as a baby's skin"

Why not? There are too few years between youth and babyhood to work noticeable changes in a young girl's skin. And a fresh, smooth complexion keeps its beauty long after girlhood's days have passed.

Learn how to take care of your skin, find out what it needs and your complexion will soon merit this compliment. The roughness, the little blemishes, the coarseness of texture which many girls try to cover up with powder can be transformed into alluring freshness and delicacy.

What every complexion needs

Once every day your skin must be gently but thoroughly cleansed from all accumulations of dirt, perspiration and excess oil secretions.

Powder and rouge must be removed, traces of cold cream washed away. Every tiny pore must be freed from clogging accumulations so that the network of minute glands can do their necessary work.

Neglect this daily cleansing, or depend upon cold cream alone, and dirt, oil, perspiration, powder, rouge and the cream itself combine in an impervious coat which smothers your natural complexion.

The result is sluggishness which soon results in a lifeless, sallow skin. Blackheads develop, dirt infections produce pimples, the filled up pores enlarge into unattractive coarseness.

Volume and efficiency produce 25-cent quality for

PALMOLIVE

Such a skin is a disfigurement which cosmetics can't conceal. Simple cleansing once a day will quickly cure it.

You must use soap and water

There is no other safe, quick, satisfactory cleanser.

Mild soap, of course, balmy and soothing, which means Palmolive Soap. Its profuse creamy lather is the scientific blend of palm and olive oils, the mild gentle cleansers Cleopatra used.

If your skin is oily apply this cosmetic lather without preparation, massaging it thoroughly into every tiny skin cell until not a trace of foreign matter remains.

If your skin is inclined to dryness apply a little cold cream before you start cleansing. This keeps the most sensitive skin delightfully soft and smooth.

Enormous volume reduces price

If we made Palmolive in small quantities the price would be high. Palm and olive oils are costly ingredients—they come from overseas. We import them in such vast quantity that the price is much reduced.

The Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the enormous and ever growing demand. This reduces manufacturing cost.

Result, the finest facial soap modern science, employing an ancient beauty secret, can produce, at the price of ordinary soap. Palmolive, everywhere, costs only 10 cents a cake.

MENASHA COMING HERE SUNDAY TO BATTLE BRANDTS

New London and Oshkosh Stack
Up on Edison's Field in Feature Game.

Another real baseball battle is promised Appleton fans next Sunday when Menasha comes here in the hope of pulling the Brandts down a peg in the league race. Fans don't need to be told of the rivalry existing between the two clubs and that a fight is in prospect.

Menasha has a whale of a pitcher in Spencer Heath who formerly was with the White Sox of Chicago. More lately he was in the Lake Shore league. Heath has lost two games in the valley league thus far but has pitched good baseball, his support being quite largely responsible for his defeats.

Oshkosh is going to run into some real opposition at New London next Sunday and it would not be surprising if Appleton takes the lead about 5:30 Sunday evening. The Edison's are trying to bolster up their squad and hope to have a championship team in the field by Sunday.

The Overalls have had some pretty narrow escapes lately and are due for a ride soon. The team has not been in a real slump this season while all the other clubs have had their bad weeks. It is time for Oshkosh to begin slipping. The Sawdust city hasn't the pennant clinched yet and it will have to keep going to remain on top of the heap.

Sport Views And News

There was a decided improvement in attendance at ball games in the Fox River Valley league Sunday afternoon. An immense crowd was in the Kaukauna park where Appleton won a thrilling game and a big bunch of rabid fans rooted for the Menasha team in the game with New London. There is a lot of interest in baseball in this valley and it is certain that new attendance records would have been established this year if business conditions had been at all favorable. The league should hang together this year and be prepared to reap the harvest which is sure to come next year as a result of two seasons of preparation.

Action must be Tris Speaker's middle name because the manager of the Cleveland Indians has announced that when his days of usefulness on the diamond are over with, he will retire from the game. The hard hitting outfielder has no intention of becoming a bench manager and watching others fill his footsteps in the outer gardens. It is said that Speaker is getting tired of baseball, he's been at it for fifteen years, and the novelty has about worn off by this time. Probably in the next year or two Owner Dunn of the Indians will have to be looking around for a new leader.

Another star baseballer has been thrown into the discard. Rube Benton is a free agent. The Giants released him unconditionally after all the other big league clubs waived on him. The big hurler in his day was a frequent winner in the National circuit and he always threw low hit games. But Rube fell by the wayside when he hit the lights of Broadway and he was continually out of condition. Benton has been of little use to McGraw during his sojourn with the New Yorkers. Just one more reason for prohibition.

Jimmy Murphy, American auto driver, put his name on the French honor roll when he walked off with the Grand Prix, which is the auto classic of Europe. The Yank got off in the lead and was never headed although he was facing a crack field of drivers. Just to make the victory sweeter for Uncle Sam, Ralph De Palma, another one of Uncle Sam's speed demons, drove home in second place, while a Frenchman, Gour, was the third entrant to cross the finish line.

When is a prize fight not a prize fight? That is what the judges in New York are trying to decide in regard to the showing of the Carpenter-Dempsey fistie encounter pictures in Gotham. Owners of the films claim it was a boxing bout and that the showing of the "fistie" in other states aside from where they were taken is a violation of the federal law. We can't see why the recent clash wasn't just as much of a prize fight as some of the bouts which have been staged in the past.

FATS DEFEAT LEANS IN BENEFIT GAME AT MENASHA

Menasha.—Saturday afternoon at the city hall park the Fats defeated the Leans in a five inning baseball game by the score of 9-5. The good pitching of Landgraf was the outstanding feature of the game. He allowed but two hits and struck out seven men. The game was hard fought throughout and the Leans have demanded another chance to beat the Fats. Another game is to be played next Saturday afternoon.

Two games of the Menasha Industrial league were played at the city hall park Saturday afternoon. The Menasha Woodmen's Co. team defeated the Menasha Printing and Carton Co. team 9-1, and the Banta Publishing Co. team defeated the Peerless Paper Products Co. team 6-1.

Gambling Master Mind Had Sleep Habit

Back of the tragic story of the throwing of the 1919 world series between the Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati Reds is another of lighter vein.

It concerns William T. Burns, former player of the Sox and other major league clubs, who turned state's evidence and told the complete story of how the games were thrown.

Strange as it may seem, Burns, who admits he was one of the master minds back of the scheme to throw the series, was an eccentric fellow as a player.

His eccentricities ran to sleepy headedness. He liked his catnaps. Those who knew him when he was pitching for the Cincinnati club say he sometimes went sound asleep on the bench while his side was batting. Fellow players had to awaken him so he could finish the game. The game went into the extra innings with the score 0 to 0. Burns finally won the game, 1 to 0.

Another incident is told about Burns pitching a double-header in Boston. Between games he went to sleep on a bench in the bull pen. After his nap he went back to the mound and pitched good ball.

Other stories are told of Burns' weakness for sleep.

Once he invited some players to his room to look at pictures. He fell asleep while entertaining them.

He would go to sleep sometime while riding his horse on his Texas ranch, it is said.

Fair Pitcher

Burns was a fair pitcher in his day in spite of his weakness for catnaps during the games.

He is now 41. His home is in Saratoga, Tex., where he has been in the mining and oil game.

He was born in Texas. He began playing baseball in 1906. For two years he was a member of the Los Angeles club. Then he came up to the majors.

Burns played one year at Washington, Chicago White Sox, one year, 1909; Cincinnati, one year, Philadelthree months, Minneapolis, two years, Louisville, two months, and at Oakland for two and one-half years.

William T. Burns as he looked when playing with White Sox in 1909.

His Record

In 1908 he won 6 games and lost 14 for Washington; won 9, lost 13 for Washington and Chicago in 1909; won 8, lost 13 for Cincinnati in 1910; and won 7, lost 10 for Cincinnati and Philadelphia in 1911.

He dropped out of baseball in 1917. After quitting business he was in the mining business in New Mexico. During the past year he has been handling the Mineral Wells (Tex.) baseball team.

His health has been poor since 1919, when he underwent an operation.

Few would ever think that one of the master minds back of the scandal which has rocked the baseball world was ever a sleepy fellow.

One would imagine he was one of the quick nervous type men. But Burns is the exact opposite.

Real Fans Return Balls

The Philadelphia Nationals are feeling the pinch of balls lost in the grandstand.

They are offering passes for returns in Cleveland. Owner Jim Dunn has publicly announced that customers who nab stray baseballs may keep them for souvenirs.

But of course Dunn has just won a pennant and is well on his way toward another while the Phillies are having a lean year with a cellar ball club.

We believe Dunn is using the right tactics and that he will get better percentages than Philadelphia.

Fans ought to be loyal enough to return balls without having to bribe them.

We can imagine a small boy turning in a ball for a pass, but not an honest-to-goodness fan.

Second Guessing.

Charley White, after an absence of nearly seven years in New York rings, will get back on the Gotham boards Aug. 10.

He will have Johnny Dundee, the rubber ball Italian, as his opponent. If he can master this fellow in the 10 rounds to a decision but he will again loom as a lightweight contender for Leonard's crown.

And it is really Leonard toward whom White is pointing.

The Chicago boy is like Carpenter in that after being knocked out he has figured it out where he fought the champion wrong at Benton Harbor.

Carpenter has figured out the same thing as regards his demise at Jersey City.

HERMAN REGAINS BANTAM CROWN IN 15 ROUND FIGHT

Joe Lynch Loses Decision in Slowest Kind of Battle in Brooklyn.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—The bantam crown came home to roost.

Pudgy Pete Herman, the New Orleans Italian, got back his old title last night just the way he lost it last December—by a fifteen round decision.

Two judges and the referee decided that Herman outpointed the champion, Joe Lynch, the West Side Harp.

It looked to an unpartisan spectator as if it should have been a draw, because it was such a bad exhibition that it was stretching a point to give either one of them a decision.

There was but one good round in the entire contest. In that good round, the second, Lynch lost his only chance to knock out the quality newsmen. He rocked Herman with a terrific right to the jaw and had the Italian groggy against the ropes. He missed another right by an inch and Herman recovered.

His great battle for health and he now appears a sure winner. "Big Six" who came here just a little more than a year ago to fight tuberculosis, has now reached a state of recovery that permits him a little walking and a short ride daily.

ANOTHER BASEBALL PROBE IS IN SIGHT

States Attorneys Will Continue
Drive Against Gambling
"Higher-Ups."

By Carl Victor Little
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Plots and rumors of plots will lead to another grand jury investigation of crooked baseball. Assistant State's Attorney Tyrell stated Tuesday.

"There are entirely too many 'skull-duggery' stories of bribes and plots within plots to disregard them also at once," said Tyrell as the trial of seven White Sox stars and four alleged gamblers charged with throwing the 1919 world series was resumed Tuesday.

"The state's attorney's office is using every means to get enough evidence against the 'higher ups' of the gamblers' syndicate that bought out the White Sox defendants," Tyrell said.

Theft of the confessions and immunity waivers from the state's attorney's office is one of the latest developments in the ball scandal. The state because of this has had to call many witnesses that would not have been necessary otherwise.

Tyrell is investigating the statement made by Ban Johnson, president of the American league, that $10,000 was paid for the stolen papers by New York gamblers.

It is generally believed by the prosecution that only the "pennants" gamblers were indicted by the last grand jury. The hangers-on to the fringe of the fake series were the only ones put to trial, it was expressed.

POWER OF ILLINI IS DUE TO EFFORTS OF DIRECTOR HUFF

Famous Athletic Leader Has Built Formidable Teams at Champaign.

Champaign, Ill.—G. Huff is a builder of men.

For over 26 years he has been connected with the athletic department of the University of Illinois, the past 20 years as director of physical education for men. Students know him as "G."

Huff began his athletic career at Illinois in 1899. He was a member of the first football team that ever represented Illinois and was captain and manager of the baseball team during his last two years.

After graduating from Illinois, he attended Dartmouth Medical college and was a member of the baseball and football teams at that institution.

Under the leadership of Huff, Illinois has gradually crept from obscurity in the college athletic world to a recognized leader in the middle west.

Huff, with his all-star staff of coaches, Zuppke, football; Gill, track; Lundgren, baseball; and Winters, basketball, has built well.

The Illinois athletic director knows men. He reads character like a book. His influence has done much in raising the standard of athletics in the colleges of this country.

Last year attendance at football games throughout the country broke all previous records. Other college athletics also shared in this boom.

Competition in athletic sports, as a result of the general growth, is becoming keener, which makes for more evenly balanced teams.

Illinois, backed up by Huff, is now campaigning for $2,000,000, with which to build a stadium. It will be dedicated as a memorial to the fighting men of the state of Illinois.

Dream of Stadium.
The stadium will furnish sufficient room for every man and woman attending Illinois to take some part in athletics. It is G's dream of years—soon to be realized.

The Illinois stadium will seat 75,000. It will be the largest in the country. Yale erected a bowl in 1917 seating 61,000 persons. Seventeen years ago Harvard built one accommodating 23,000 with temporary accommodations for 45,000, and Princeton's will seat 42,000.

Other universities that are building stadiums, or carrying on drives for them, include Ohio State, University of Cincinnati, Kansas university, Iowa State, Columbia, Denison and the University of Oregon.

TWO GERMAN PAPERS IN MANITOWOC ARE MERGED

Manitowoc, Wis.—With the merging of Die Warheit and the Manitowoc Post but one German language newspaper remains in the city, whereas a few years ago three thrived here. Die Warheit was published for the last time with this week's issue after an existence of 25 years and its subscription list was taken over by the Post. Alex Dusold, who published Die Warheit, will have charge of the mechanical department of the Post, and Carl Schmidt will remain as editor. Der Nordwestern, a German weekly, suspended publication three years ago. The Manitowoc Post is owned principally by Judge Emil Baensch.

RICKARD "IN BAD" FOR SHIPPING FIGHT FILMS

New York.—"Tex" Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpenter glove fight, is to be prosecuted by the United States government for bringing film pictures of the contest from New Jersey into the state of New York.

In response to a grand jury subpoena Rickard and Fred C. Quimby, who, it is said, has rights in connection with the fight films, appeared before Wm. Hayward, United States attorney for the southern district of New York on Monday for examination and both, according to Col. Hayward, admitted their guilt.

"I shall file a formal information against them on Wednesday accusing them of violating the federal law prohibiting the transportation of fight films from one state to another, and they have assured me that they will plead guilty," Col. Hayward said.

The punishment for violating the federal law is imprisonment for not more than one year or a fine of not more than $1,000.

Both Rickard and Quimby, at the conference in the federal prosecutor's office, it was said, were frank in their admissions and made no attempt to conceal their part in the acts of transportation.

Rickard, according to Mr. Hayward, said that he had brought the pictures into New York state primarily to exhibit them to wounded soldiers at the Fox Hill hospital and stated he was ignorant of any such law prohibiting such an action.

HARVARD'S GREATEST ATHLETE IS A NEGRO

Cambridge, Mass.—Edward O. Gourd, Harvard's negro athlete who set a new world broad jump record of 25 feet, 3 inches last Saturday, has closed his college athletic career with an all round record of track and field proficiency surpassing that of any man who ever wore the Crimson. His ability in events made in actual competition show:

100 yard dash, .09 4-5; 220 yard dash, .22 1-8; 440 yard run, .52 1-8; broad jump, 25 feet, 3 inches; high jump, 5 feet, 9 inches; running hop, step and jump, 45 feet, 3 inches; javelin throw, 140 feet; discus throw, 110 feet.

The Harvard athletic authorities have been unable to get medals struck off as often as he has earned them.

Everything for QUALITY —nothing for show

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making
CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigarette aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

NOTICE!

(Information to the Public in general)

Whereas we have been continuously probed with questions concerning the controversy between the carpenters and Association contractors, we wish to inform the public that the scale of wages of building crafts for this year already settled is as follows: Plumbers, $1.00 per hour. Tinner, 75c per hour. Painters, 75c per hour. Shop Carpenters, 60c to 75c per hour. Masons settled as far as wages are concerned, $1.00 per hour. Now is 80c per hour too much for outside carpenters who furnish their own tools and considering lost time throughout the year?

If you want carpenter work done, Telephone 1551 or 2081. All our carpenters are covered by compensation insurance. We will supply you with competent carpenters at 85c per hour.

ROAD BOSSES MUST BE NAMED BY TOWN BOARDS

Special to Post-Crescent.
Madison, Wis.—Town boards are compelled under the statutes to appoint a superintendent of superintendents of highways, according to an opinion given by Assistant Attorney General E. E. Brossard to District Attorney E. T. Jackson, of Iowa county, at Mineral Point. The old law was amended during the last session to permit the appointment of more than one and it was held when this was done the town should be divided by the board into as many districts as there are superintendents.

The amendment was added to the statutes because many town boards complained they were unable to secure a competent man as town highway superintendent who could give the time required to look after the roads in the entire town. By permitting the appointment of several superintendents the work could be divided and not require so much time of any of them.

THE STAGE

John Winninger Coming.

With the biggest show he has ever offered to local theatre goers, a cast of eighteen people and a ladies orchestra, John D. Winninger will come to the Appleton theatre for one performance Sunday July 31. The play to be presented will be one of the greatest dramatic successes of the season "The Sign On The Door," a drama that enjoyed a wonderful run on Broadway, and is being offered for the first time on any stage at popular prices by Mr. Winninger. In speaking of "The Sign On The Door," Mr. Winninger said:

"I want to show the people of Appleton just how really big a production I can give them. My show this year is the largest and most expensive I have ever carried, and in selecting my plays I believe I have been fortunate enough to secure the very best repertoire I have ever had. While we will be here for one day this time, we will also give a performance here a week from Sunday, and later on in the season will return for a solid week. But above all I want the people of Appleton to see my production of "The Sign On The Door. I witnessed the production of the play in New York and was held spellbound during the entire performance."

JAPAN IS CAREFUL IN REPLY TO U. S.

would raise the question of immigration and demand a declaration in favor of racial equality as she did at the Paris conference are regarded here as inspired by newspapers rather than the Japanese government, for officials say the Japanese government hasn't raised any such issue.
A Touchy Question
Inasmuch as the agenda will be arranged by cable ahead of time and within the realm of secret interchanges the prospects are that by the time the program is announced the racial discrimination question will have been disposed of so it will not be an obstacle to the conference. It will be far easier for Japanese public opinion to understand the complete omission of the racial equality issue than to have the great powers discuss such a moot point and be forced to the expression of varying opinions. Japanese pride would rather not have the powers publicly discuss such a question. The Japanese consider themselves racially the equal of any other race and to petition for a declaration on the subject might seem to be expressing a doubt whether such a right of equality is actually possessed. Japan gains more in the long run by assuming that she is the equal racially of any other nation and insisting upon rights of equality than by raising the subject in a world conference. It would be the same if the United States or any other power petitioned a world conference to declare that America was a sovereign state.
The chances are that notwithstanding some efforts that are being made to postpone the disarmament conference with extraneous questions before it begins, the Japanese will confine their attention to matters of commercial opportunity in the Far East and avoid immigration subjects which can best be dealt with by direct agreement between the individual powers vitally interested.

POLICE HERE FIND CLEWS TO BANDITS

Bay, the chief called Detective Cunningham on the telephone and told him to go at once to the McAllister residence, where he would find the gang.
Cunningham complied with the chief's request and arrested Willis Lesperance. Yaeger was caught Sunday morning. A revolver was found in the bandits' room and Willis was said to have 100 forty-five caliber cartridges in his coat pockets.
Heard Money Conversation
Women residing at the McAllister home helped to connect the men with the holdup by their admission that they had overheard the men talking about dividing money. It is said also that Mrs. McAllister found cartridges on a table in the room.
Chief Prim awaited word from Green Bay and about 10:30 Saturday was asked to take witnesses of the Appleton robbery to that city. He took three of the people who had seen the bandit here, but none of them identified the prisoners as the Appleton bandit. Willis was brought here for questioning, and Yaeger was left in Green Bay.

Chief Hawley of the Green Bay force denies that the men made confessions, but says one of them made a statement. He says Mr. Richardson positively identified Willis Lesperance from his picture. Enough evidence has been secured to bind the two over for trial, it is said.
Lesperance and Yaeger were taken to Wabeno Tuesday for preliminary hearing Thursday before a justice of the peace at Crandon.
In the meantime the officers of three counties are searching for the "two mysterious strangers" who asked the district attorney of Oconto to give them a permit to visit the woods near Wabeno for the purpose of picking blueberries.
The two strangers are believed to have recovered the loot stolen from the bank which had been cached there and marked by a white handkerchief tied to a nearby tree limb.
The strangers were given the permit when they explained to the district attorney that they wanted to enter the woods but didn't want to be arrested and held in connection with the bank robbery.
Officers claim to have a fairly accurate idea as to the identity of the strangers.
When detectives visited the spot Monday where the loot was supposed to have been hidden, they found evidence that the ground had been recently excavated leading them to believe the loot had been removed but recently.

INFANT WANDERS AWAY FROM MOTHER IN CROWD

A 3-year-old tot, who said she had lost her mother was picked up by Wenzel Hassmann in front of the First National Bank building, early Saturday evening. She said her name was Margaret Gneve, but was unable to give her mother at the Woolworth 5 and 10 cents store and wandered west two blocks on College-ave. before she realized her predicament. She was crying when picked up by Mr. Hassmann, who took her into a shoe store, where J. B. Langenberg picked her up and carried her east on College-ave. He had scarcely reached the middle of the block when she shouted, "There's my mamma," even before the mother who was nearly desperate, observed her.

The Grand American Prerogative

THE right to choose is the grand American prerogative—the glory of American democracy.

And a most important part of it—the right to choose what you buy—was bestowed upon you by advertising.

Advertising is as much a part of today's life as electricity, antiseptic surgery or motor traction. It is the system whereby a man who has something to sell tells about it to those who do or should use it. For no one can want anything until he knows of its existence.

Advertising is the way by which you are told why you should have certain goods and how to identify those goods. So the advertisements you find in this newspaper make up a catalog of needed merchandise.

Articles of all kinds and for all purposes are presented in a pleasant way through the medium of type and pictures. The outstanding requirements of every member of the family are met by offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements will help you in the selection of all manner of things.
